NOTICE 201 OF 2013*GUIDANCE NOTE 4 OF 2012*REJECTIONS IN RELATION TO APPLICATIONS FOR CLOSE CORPORATIONS AMENDMENTS

CIPC has noticed an increase in the number of applications for amendments to close corporations which have to be rejected as the lodging requirements are not fully met. The purpose of this guidance note is therefore to attempt to assist customers in submitting such applications correct from the outset, in an effort to reduce the number of applications being rejected.

To prevent rejections in respect of applications for amendments in relation to close corporations, kindly take note of the following:-

- when capturing members' particulars via the electronic CK2 application, ensure that the same information as reflected in the ID copy is captured (ID number, surname and name/s), as CIPC does not re-capture any applications submitted electronically (CK2/CK2A);
- if some of the existing information is incorrect or not updated, e.g. spelling error on principal business, financial year end, etc. customers are urged not to automatically update/correct this information when lodging an amendment. CIPC must first update such information before an electronic CK2/CK2A application can be submitted;
- updating existing information will cause unnecessary deductions from customers' accounts, as certain deduction will automatically be made when corrections are effected by customers;
- at least one member must sign the CK2A and the attached certified ID copy when a new practice number is allocated for an existing accounting officer, and a letter of consent is required from the accounting officer;
- all members must sign and submit their certified ID copies in the case of appointing of a new accounting officer;
- a form COR39 cannot be used to amend details of members of a close corporation; the correct form to be used therefore remains a CK2/CK2A;
- insert the correct customer codes on all manual CK2/CK2A applications submitted, as no tracking number will be allocated without a customer code;
- where the signatures of the application/s submitted do not correspond with the signatures already on file at CIPC, an affidavit from that member is required to explain the reason for the difference in signature, and to confirm that it is the same member who has signed the CK2 form;
- where the signature is not that of a member, an appropriate Power of Attorney must be attached;
- ensure there are sufficient funds in the virtual account to make provision for costs in relation to, for example, changes on certain pages of the CK2 application;
- the executor must sign the application forms on behalf of a deceased member, and attached to the application must also be a certified copy of the ID of the executor, as well as an executor's letter;
- all annual returns must be up to date before lodging a form CK2/CK2A;
- an accounting officer of a close corporation cannot be a company;
- supporting documents relating to trusts must be attached to a CK2 application linked with trust registration. Also refer to Practice Note 1 of 2006 in this regard;
- in instances of a change of name, the customer code on the CK2 form must be the same as the customer code on the COR9.4 form;
- members' ID number or date of birth cannot be changed to reflect a passport number.

NOTICE 203 OF 2013*PRACTICE NOTE 4 OF 2012*IN TERMS OF*SECTION 188 (2) (b) OF THE COMPANIES ACT, 2008*INTERPRETATION OF SECTION 11 (3) (b) READ WITH SECTION 15 (2) (b) AND (c) OF THE COMPANIES ACT, 2008, IN RELATION TO THE USE OF “(RF)” IN THE NAME OF A COMPANY

1. From the number of enquiries received by the CIPC it seems clear that there is sufficient uncertainty regarding the use of “(RF)” in the name of a company and the reasons for this requirement to warrant that guidelines be provided in by way of a Practice Note under section 188 of the Companies Act, 2008.
2. RF is the abbreviation for “Ring Fenced” and section 11 (3) (b) requires every company to use “(RF)” as part of its name “if the company’s Memorandum of Incorporation includes any provision contemplated in sections 15 (2) (b) or (c) restricting or prohibiting the amendment of any particular provision of the Memorandum”.
  - 2.1 Section 15 (2) (b) refers to provisions that “contain any restrictive conditions applicable to the company and any requirement for the amendment of any such restrictive condition in addition to the requirements set out in section 16; and
  - 2.2 Section 15 (2) (c) refers to provisions that “prohibit the amendment of any particular provision” of the Memorandum of Incorporation of the company.
3. To understand the rationale behind the requirement the difference between the repealed Act and the Companies Act, 2008, in relation to the powers of a company must be understood.
  - 3.1 Under the repealed Act a company had the powers and capacity determined by its main object as stated in the specific company’s memorandum of association. The powers and capacity of companies were thus restricted. The doctrine of “constructive notice” applied to all outsiders and in terms thereof anyone dealing with the company was presumed to be aware of the contents of the company documents as filed because they are open to inspection by the public. In terms of this doctrine the public was, therefore, presumed to have knowledge of any limitations on the powers and capacity of the company.

PRACTICE NOTE 4 OF 2012

- 3.2 Under the Companies Act, 2008, a company has, in terms of section 19 (1) (b), the powers and capacity of a natural person or individual of full capacity except to the extent that a juristic person is incapable of exercising any such power or having such capacity (a juristic person, for instance, cannot get engaged or get a driver's licence). Furthermore, section 19 (4) specifically excludes the operation of the doctrine of constructive notice under the Act. Under the Companies Act, 2008, therefore, a person who interacts with a company can accept that the company has the necessary power and capacity to participate in that activity and to bind the company. However, should there be any limitation the outsider would in terms of section 19 (5) (a) only be bound by it if the company's name includes the element "RF" as contemplated in section 11 (3) (b) and the company's Notice of Incorporation or subsequent Notice of Amendment has drawn attention to the relevant provision.
- 3.3 The doctrine of constructive notice would, therefore, under the Companies Act, 2008, only apply in very limited circumstances.
4. It is against this background that that it must be considered whether the requirement to use (RF) in the company name is applicable or not in any particular case. In principle, if a limitation could have any effect on third parties, it would be advisable to use (RF) in the name. If on the other hand, it is of no consequence to third parties there would also be no need to warn them.
5. Inconsiderate use of the expression "RF" in the name of a company could lead to unnecessary confusion and in the circumstances it is submitted that the expression "(RF)" be used only in cases where it is evident that –
- 5.1 the purpose or objectives of the company are restricted or limited in the Mol of the company;
  - 5.2 the powers of the company are restricted or limited in its Mol;
  - 5.3 any other pertinent restricting condition is contained in the Mol of the company;
  - 5.4 any requirement in addition to those set out in section 16, for the amendment of any of the abovementioned restrictions or limitations is contained in the Mol; or
  - 5.5 the Mol of a company contains a prohibition on the amendment of any particular provision of the Mol.
6. The CIPC is further of the view that if the Memorandum of Incorporation contains a provision –
- 6.1 setting higher standards or more onerous requirements under section 15 (2) (a) (iii) than would otherwise apply to the company in terms of an unalterable provision of the Act; or
  - 6.2 requiring a special resolution to approve any matter not listed in section 65 (11);

PRACTICE NOTE 4 OF 2012

such a provision in itself is not a restriction contemplated in section 11 (3) (b) as it does not limit the powers or capacity of the company but rather prescribes a different procedure to perform the activity concerned.

7. The requirements of section 11 (3) (b) to use "(RF)" in the name equally applies to NPC's. This is, however, a specific type of company and the Act in Schedule 1 requires that it must set out its objectives in its MoI and that it must apply all of its assets and income to advance its stated objects only. This in itself constitutes a limitation or restriction of its powers and capacity but as all NPC's are subject to the same restriction it is submitted that special attention to this restriction through the use of "(RF)" in the names of NPC's is not required. The use of the expression NPC in its name already alerts third parties that they are dealing with a special kind of company.

- (8) Sufficient documentary proof indicating that the company or close corporation was in business or that it had any outstanding assets or liabilities (e.g. property, intellectual property rights) at the time of deregistration.

Upon the successful processing of the re-instatement application, all outstanding annual returns must be filed in order to complete the process. If the close corporation or company fails to file all outstanding annual returns within 30 business days from date of the re-instatement, the company or close corporation will be finally deregistered, without any further notification.

It should be noted that the CIPC will no longer re-instate a company or close corporation solely based on a statement that the company or close corporation is in business, or will be in business in the near future. The re-instatement process is reserved for companies and close corporations that can prove that it was in business at the time of deregistration, have outstanding assets and/or liabilities which must be transferred or liquidated.

PRACTICE NOTE 6 OF 2012

For purposes of determining whether a company or close corporation is in business, it is sufficient to prove that the company or close corporation has been conducting business related activities at the time of deregistration, e.g. selling and buying of goods and services, leasing or renting property or equipment, marketing of goods and services, and/or an active bank account.

NOTICE 205 OF 2013*PRACTICE NOTE 7 OF 2012*APPLICATION FOR DEREGISTRATION OF COMPANIES AND CLOSE CORPORATIONS IN TERMS OF THE COMPANIES ACT, 2008 (ACT 71 OF 2008)

The Companies Act, 2008 allows the Companies and Intellectual Property Commission (CIPC) to upon request from the company or close corporation, or any other party, deregister a company or close corporation provided that the company or close corporation:-

- (a) has ceased to carry on business; and
- (b) has no assets or, because of the inadequacy of its assets, there is no reasonable probability of the company being liquidated.

In order for the CIPC to process the deregistration request, the following information is required on an original letter head of either the company or close corporation, or any other person ("third party request") applying for deregistration:-

- statement confirming that:
  - (i) the company or close corporation is not carrying on business or is dormant,
  - (ii) has no assets or, because of the inadequacy of its assets, that there is no reasonable probability of the company being liquidated, andif the request is a third party request, the statement must be supplemented with sufficient documentary proof confirming the statement;
- tax clearance certificate or any other written confirmation from the South African Revenue Service (SARS) that no tax liability is outstanding;
- tax number (if available);
- if the company or close corporation submits the request, the letter must be signed by each active director, member or the company or close corporation's duly authorised representative, or otherwise by the person who is requesting the deregistration; and
- a certified ID copy of any of the persons signing the letter wherein deregistration is required.

It should be further noted for a third party request, in order to confirm whether a company or close corporation is in business, the CIPC will verify whether or not any annual returns are outstanding. If all annual returns are up to date, the CIPC will regard the business as being active and will return the request for deregistration to the applicant. It should be noted that the filing of annual returns by a company or close corporation creates the assumption that a company or close corporation is in business as per the records of the CIPC.

PRACTICE NOTE 7 OF 2012

The request for deregistration will be returned to the applicant for correction if any of the above stated requirements are not complied with.

Once the deregistration request was successfully filed, the company or close corporation will be placed in the administrative status of "in deregistration process", pending the finalisation of the deregistration process, at which time the administrative status will change to "final deregistered". It is only after the final deregistration of the company or close corporation that the legal persona of the company or close corporation will cease to exist.

Upon final deregistration, CIPC will not administratively protect company or close corporation names, if the cause of the deregistration was non compliance with annual returns or any other cause. The entity name will immediately become available for any other third party to register such name. In the instance where the company or close corporation is re-instated and another third party registered the same name during the period of deregistration, an objection to such name reservation may be filed with the Companies Tribunal in terms of Company Regulation 13 on form CTR 142.

During the process of deregistration, any third party or the company or close corporation itself, may object to the deregistration process. If the company or close corporation was deregistered due to annual return non compliance, the process of deregistration can only successfully be cancelled upon the filing of all outstanding annual returns. If the deregistration was for any other reason, a written objection with a certified ID copy of the requester must be filed with the CIPC, and any filing of annual returns will not be allowed until the deregistration process is cancelled.

The requirements, as stated above, for deregistration will take effect 1 November 2012 at which date all requests for deregistration must comply with the requirements for successful filing.

Yours sincerely,
