- (c) Where the judge is not satisfied that the parties have fully complied with the requirements or had proper regard to the purposes of the progress conference or where there are unresolved issues relating to the further conduct of the matter or where the judge deems it appropriate, he or she may, in addition to any order that may be made as aforesaid, order that a directions hearing be held.
- (d) Where no directions hearing is ordered the judge shall, when making directions, fix a compliance date either as agreed upon by the parties or as considered reasonable by the judge.

- (a) the consent of all parties: Provided that such amendment shall not extend the time for compliance with any direction to a time which will prevent the timeous filing of the compliance certificate, and such consent shall not be effective unless recorded in writing and unless the parties confirm in such consent in writing that the amendment will not prejudice the compliance date; or
- (b) the court pursuant to an application made by a party on notice to the registrar requesting that such application be set down for hearing at a special directions hearing, and such notice shall be delivered not later than five days before the date upon which the procedural step is to be completed; or

(11) The provisions of subrule (9) shall mutatis mutandis apply to a special directions hearing.

(12) (a) Whenever a party defaults in due and timeous compliance with any provision of this rule or a direction made by the court, the other party or parties to the action shall forthwith and not later than five days after the default, deliver a notice of default which shall be as near as may be in accordance with Form 23 of the First Schedule.

(b) Unless a notice in writing is filed not later than seven days after the first filing of a notice of default by the party who filed the notice of default or by the alleged defaulting party confirming that the default has been purged, the registrar shall forthwith give notice of a default hearing.

(c) A default hearing shall be presided over by a judge.

(d) The registrar shall give the parties not less than 10 days' notice of the holding of the default hearing.

(e) All the parties shall attend the default hearing.

(f) At a default hearing the judge may make directions, amend any existing order or directions and make any order as to costs.

(g) The court shall endeavour to ensure that the matter is brought to trial as soon as possible and shall extend the compliance date only on good cause shown and then only for as short a time as possible.

(h) Orders that may be made include -

- (i) directions to enable the matter to proceed to an early final conference;
- (ii) loss of priority;

- (vi) orders as to costs;
- (vii) any direction the judge deems appropriate for the achievement of the objects of this rule.

(13) (a) Not later than 10 days after the compliance date, the plaintiff shall, if all the directions and orders have been complied with, file a compliance certificate which shall be as near as may be in accordance with Form 24 of the First Schedule: Provided that where the plaintiff is unrepresented, the compliance certificate shall be filed by the defendant's attorney.

(b) Where, by reason of the default of any party, a compliance certificate is not filed timeously, the registrar shall forthwith set the matter down for a default hearing in accordance with subrule (12).

- (c) All the parties shall attend the default hearing.
- (d) The default hearing shall be presided over by a judge who shall endeavour to make directions, which may include orders as set out in subrule (12)(h), to enable the matter to proceed to an early final conference.
- (e) Where it appears that the plaintiff was not diligent in complying with any directions made or has for whatever reason been prevented from complying with any directions, the court may transfer the matter to the not ready list.
- (f) Where there has, by the time of the default hearing, been full compliance and a compliance certificate has been filed, the court may summarily convert the default hearing into a final conference and proceed to deal with the matter or may instruct the registrar to give notice of a final conference.
- (14) (a) Upon the filing of a duly completed compliance certificate the registrar shall forthwith allocate a date for trial and shall set the matter down for a final conference to be presided over by a judge.
- (b) The registrar shall give the parties not less than 30 days' notice of the trial date and not less than 10 days' notice of the date for the final conference.
- (c) The judge who is to preside over the final conference may, where he or she considers it to be indicated, cancel the final conference and permit the parties to proceed to trial.
- (d) A final conference shall be adjourned only in exceptional circumstances.
- (e) If the parties are not fully prepared for the final conference or if the attorney or counsel representing the plaintiff is not properly instructed, the judge shall transfer the matter to the not ready list and make such other directions, including orders as to costs, as are appropriate.
- (f) If a party other than a plaintiff is not properly represented at a final conference, the judge may issue appropriate directions, including orders as to costs and for the striking out of any pleading or defence and for the granting of judgment.
- (g) (i) At the final conference the judge shall explore the prospects of settlement, limiting issues and curtailing the trial.
- (ii) The judge shall, in particular, consider the parties' state of readiness and confirm compliance with all directions and orders and ascertain whether there is agreement as to who will begin and whether any further directions are required to secure the attendance of witnesses or otherwise ensure that the trial can proceed.
- (h) If the judge is satisfied that the matter is ready to proceed to trial, he or she shall permit the matter to go ahead on the fixed date and shall make such further directions as may be appropriate.

- (i) If the judge is not satisfied with the parties' state of readiness but is satisfied that the failure can be remedied speedily and that justice so requires, he or she may adjourn the final conference to a fixed date or a date to be determined by the registrar and make such further directions, including orders as to costs, as are appropriate to expedite the trial of the matter.
 - (j) If the judge is of the opinion that the matter is not ready for trial and that the time required for the matter to be ready for trial is such that he or she considers it appropriate, he or she may refer the matter to the not ready list and make such further directions, including orders as to costs, as are appropriate.
 - (k) At the final conference attention shall be given to the need for a transcript of the proceedings and arrangements shall be made for the bundling and pagination of documents and the preparation and presentation of exhibits.
- (15) (a) The not ready list shall be maintained by the registrar to ensure that cases which are not ready to proceed to trial or which are in need of preparation at any time are placed under review with the aim of disposing of them as soon as possible without allowing them to stand in the way of properly prepared cases proceeding to an early resolution.
- (b) Where a case has been on the not ready list for three months, the registrar shall send a notice to the plaintiff or, where the plaintiff is represented, to his or her attorney stating that unless application is made to the court to remove the case from the not ready list within 30 days of the date of the notice, the parties shall be required to attend a default hearing on a date not less than 45 days and not more than 60 days from the date of the notice, and a copy of the notice shall be sent to all the other parties.
- (c) (i) Where such a notice is sent to an attorney representing a plaintiff, it shall require the attorney forthwith to inform his or her client of the notice and of the consequences of the case remaining on the not ready list for 12 months and of the steps that may be taken to have the case transferred from the not ready list and re-enrolled for trial.
- (ii) The client shall be advised that he or she must be present at the default hearing.
- (iii) The plaintiff's attorney shall deliver a notice stating that his or her client has been informed as aforesaid, when and how this was done and what steps the plaintiff proposes to take in the matter.
- (iv) The notice shall be delivered not later than five days before the default hearing.
- (d) An attorney who receives a notice pursuant to paragraph (b) shall not be entitled to withdraw as his or her client's attorney until after the default hearing and then only with the leave of the court.

- (e) (i) At the default hearing the court shall assist the parties to bring the matter to trial as soon as is practicable and shall make such orders as are appropriate, including orders as to costs.
- (ii) The court shall also make an order if the case is to remain on the not ready list and, where appropriate, the court shall specify the conditions upon compliance with which the plaintiff may apply to a judge in chambers for the re-enrolment of the case on the list of actions for trial.
- (f) Where proceedings have remained on the not ready list for more than 12 months the registrar shall refer such case to the judge-president who shall make such orders as he or she considers necessary to achieve the just, efficient and inexpensive disposal of the case, including, where appropriate, orders as to costs and for the dismissal of the action.
- (16) (a) In every opposed civil action other than actions for the dissolution of marriage and actions relating to the custody of children, each party shall be required to exchange a summary of the evidence, other than expert evidence which shall be dealt with in terms of subrule (5)(g), of each witness whom such party expects to call to testify at the trial.
- (b) The purpose of delivering the summary shall be to facilitate clarification of the issues, clarification of the evidence in regard thereto and meaningful negotiations for the settlement of such issues.
- (c) The summary in respect of each witness shall -
- (i) identify the witness by name;
- (ii) summarise the substance of the evidence such witness is expected to give on each issue with sufficient particularity to serve the purpose for which the rule requires the summary to be given; and
- (iii) be verified by the signature of the witness.
- (d) All witness summaries shall be exchanged but need not be filed with the court unless so agreed by the parties and any such agreement may provide for filing with the court of sealed witness summaries and further witness summaries, which shall be opened by the court only with the consent of all the parties or in order to determine any issue where the content or form of the witness summary or further witness summary is relevant in determining such an issue.
- (e) When the dates upon which witness summaries are to be filed are considered at a progress conference or when such dates are fixed by the court at a directions hearing, a special directions hearing or a default hearing, provision shall be made for parties to file further witness summaries in response to a matter in an opponent's witness summary where such matter has not already been dealt with in a witness summary filed on such party's behalf.

- (f) No evidence for which a witness summary or further witness summary has not been delivered shall be adduced at a trial save with the consent of the court.
- (17) (a) Whenever the registrar is required to give notice to the attorney for a party in terms of this rule, such notice shall be given by placing a copy thereof in the postbox of that attorney or his or her nominated correspondent, and such postboxes, one of which shall be allocated to each firm of attorneys, shall be maintained by the registrar at the High Court.
 (b) It shall be the responsibility of each attorney to ensure that notices placed in postboxes are regularly and timeously collected and any notice placed in a postbox by the registrar shall be deemed to have been received three days after the date of placing.
 (c) Any notice required to be given by the registrar to an unrepresented party shall be sent by pre-paid registered post and shall be deemed to have been received five days after the date of posting.
- (18) Whenever this rule requires the "plaintiff's attorney" or the "defendant's attorney" to initiate or undertake any procedure and there is more than one plaintiff or more than one defendant, it shall be the duty of the first plaintiff's attorney or the first defendant's attorney, as the case may be, to comply with the requirement of the rule.
- (19) Where, owing to the complexities of a matter or for any other reason, a party is of the view that the action requires special or individual case management, such party shall on notice to all the other parties apply in writing to the judge-president for appropriate directions.
- (20) Where an attorney or counsel attends a conference or hearing, he or she shall be properly instructed and familiar with all aspects of the case and shall have been authorised to conclude the necessary agreements and to deal effectively with all the matters which require attention."
