INTRODUCTORY POLICY NOTE REGARDING REGULATION OF WATER SERVICES PROVIDERS

1. Country Context

Government welcomes the participation of the private sector, which joins our public sector, in addressing the challenges we face to provide water services for our people. Provision of water services in South Africa is a particularly formidable task. The backlog and limits to financial and staffing capacity are significant. Over and above this, there is a great diversity of situations in relation to water services that needs to be taken into account; from small rural communities to large metropolitan areas. Government wishes to progress from a situation in which central government runs a significant proportion of services, to one in which this responsibility is placed under local government, with all municipalities ultimately assuming responsibility. The means by which local government achieves service delivery vary. This may range from providing the service itself; to a management contract for the operation of a single plant; to the large metropolitan area seeking to contract with a suitable company to build, operate and manage facilities under a concession-type agreement. Regulations need to ensure that all responsibilities are clearly allocated while being simultaneously comprehensive and reasonable.

2. Main Sector Objectives

The objective of the regulations is to promote the best interests of customers and to ensure fair treatment of Water Service Providers (WSPs). The aim is to achieve a water supply and sanitation services sector that:

- 2.1 is efficient and financially sustainable;
- 2.2 provides universal coverage with services that people want and are willing to pay for;
- 2.3 allows a range of different methods of service provision, levels of service and a choice of service providers; and
- 2.4 treats public and private providers in a similar manner.

3. Roles and Responsibilities in Sector

This policy document sets out the roles and responsibilities with respect to regulation of water services, as shown in the following table:

Role	Who	Responsibilities
Constitution of South Africa	Ministers of Water Affairs and Forestry, and Provincial and Local Government	• To set national norms and standards • To fill the role of Water Services Authority if service at local level fails • To provide support to local government in relation to water services • To legislate with regard to municipal functions (including minimum procurement rules) • To monitor performance
	Municipal government (local sphere)	• To be responsible for the provision of basic level of service to all South Africans
Regulator	Minister of Water Affairs and Forestry	• To set minimum levels of service • To set minimum reporting requirements • To set tariff policy • To monitor performance • To encourage regionalization to achieve economies of scale
Water Services Authority (WSA)	Municipal government	• To achieve requirements set by regulators • To balance the needs of stakeholders • To enter into contracts with WSP(s) best able to achieve these requirements • To monitor performance of the WSP in terms of the contract with the WSA • To report to regulators
Water Services Provider (WSP)	Public, private or mixed entities, or municipal government itself	• To provide the services and perform the duties as required in the contract, the WSA and the Constitution

In addition to the above roles and responsibilities, national departments, in particular the Departments of Water Affairs and Forestry, Provincial and Local Government, and Finance provide support to municipalities in the form of capacity building, financial assistance and operational support. Other departments such as Environment, Health, and Labour also regulate elements of this sector.

4. Key Issues Under Each Main Objective

4.1 Efficient and financially sustainable service

- (a) Tariffs will be aligned with prescribed norms and standards for tariffs to be regulated by the Minister of Water Affairs and Forestry under Section 10 of the Water Services Act (the "Act").
- (b) Services shall be financed through cost recovery and available subsidies such that they are operated in a sustainable fashion.
- (c) Tariffs may differentiate only on an equitable basis between different users of water services, different types of water services and different geographic areas.
- (d) Tariff regulation (under section 10 of the Act) will allow for tariffs to be set for fixed periods, indexed, reviewed on a periodic basis and adjusted by an agreed formula to keep pace with the cost of providing the service.
- (e) An appropriate mechanism will be used to set tariff structures that provide incentives to WSPs and that provide a reasonable rate of return commensurate with the associated risk.
- (f) Water Services Authorities will be encouraged to use partners that are best able to achieve the water service objectives.
- (g) Regionalization will be encouraged to achieve economies of scale/scope.
- (h) A suitable WSP may be identified by a WSA through the Water Services Development Plan process (sections 12, 13 and 14 of the Act).
- (i) A benchmarking system will be introduced to allow comparisons of performance by Water Services Institutions enabled through the development of a consistent comparative performance information system.

4.2 Provide universal coverage with services that people want and for which they are willing to pay

- (a) Standards of service will be set based on the relevant compulsory national norms and standards as set forth in terms of Section 9 of the Act.
- (b) WSAs will use the Water Service Development Plan, as required by the Act, as the basis for the contract with a WSP to establish the range of services to be provided within prescribed time frames and for which people are willing and able to pay.

- (c) Achievable service levels will be determined through the Water Service Development Plan process.

4.3 Allow a range of different methods of service provision and service providers

- (a) Where national government provides the service, the WSA is required to enter into a contractual agreement with national government as WSP.
- (b) Water Boards are WSPs.
- (c) Barriers to alternative service providers will be minimized.
- (d) The WSP must be able to give the consumer a choice of service levels coupled to affordability.

4.4 Treat public and private providers in a similar manner

- (a) The minimum standards set by the regulator are the responsibility of the WSA to achieve, irrespective of whether they contract with public, private or mixed service providers.
- (b) The benchmarking system will apply to all WSAs, and will capture the performance of the WSA, irrespective of the structure of the WSP(s) they contract with.
- (c) Activities of Water Boards, outside bulk supplies, will be separately accounted for.
- (d) Under the Constitution as well as the rest of the legal system including the Act, the discretion of the Minister of Water Affairs and Forestry is fettered and ad hoc interventions are not permitted.
- (e) A lawful agreement entered into prior to promulgation of section 19(5) regulations will not be voided.

5. Related issues for further discussion possibly leading to amendment of the Water Services Act

Aside from the challenges of implementation, developments in the water and sanitation sector and local government framework subsequent to 1994 have resulted in a range of issues where greater clarity in policy is required.

The Water and Sanitation White Paper was published in 1994 before a new local government framework had been established. There have since been major developments in the sector. The framework for local government has been established and a streamlined new local government system is being put in place. Local government finance has been reformed and policies to address poverty and indigency implemented. Policies on public private partnerships have been developed and a regulatory framework for such partnerships has been produced. The restructuring of state enterprises is proceeding apace.

In this new environment, we will soon be reviewing the policy framework governing water services in order to provide all stakeholders with a clear, secure and predictable environment within which to operate. Specific issues that may arise include:

- 5.1 The structure(s) and method(s) of operation through which these regulations are to be implemented.
- 5.2 The relationship between the provisions of the National Water Act and the Water Services Act, as well as the regulation of water use by industrial users.
- 5.3 The role of Water Boards in the achievement of regional scale in service provision and as a competitive public alternative to promote efficiency in the sector.
- 5.4 The regulation of Water Boards and the rules governing the establishment by them of joint ventures and other corporate entities.
- 5.5 The approach to the regulation of WSPs, particularly with respect to the regulation of tariffs and rates of return outlined in section 19 of the Act.
- 5.6 Possible amendments of sections 10(2)(b) and (c) and section 19(2) of the Act.
- 5.7 Technical issues such as the use of the words "license" or "permit" instead of the word "contract" to reduce the potential for litigation and whether "joint venture" should be referred to separately from other agreements in the Water Services Act, will also be considered.

NOTICE 2261 OF 2000SOUTH AFRICAN MARITIME SAFETY AUTHORITY*PROPOSED ACCEPTANCE OF 1991 (FAL) AMENDMENTS TO THE CONVENTION ON THE INTERNATIONAL MARITIME ORGANIZATION, 1948: PUBLICATION FOR COMMENT

The South African Maritime Safety Authority (SAMSA) hereby makes known its intention to recommend to the Minister of Transport the acceptance, in accordance with Article 68 of the Convention on the International Maritime Organization, 1948, of the 1991 (FAL) Amendments to the Convention set out in resolution A.724(17) below. Interested persons are invited to submit written comment on this proposal by no later than 14 July 2000. Submissions should be marked for the attention of Mr C Briesch, and may either be mailed to the South African Maritime Safety Authority, P.O. Box 13186, Hatfield 0028, or faxed to (012) 342 3160. Telephonic enquiries can be directed to Mr C Briesch on (012) 342 3049.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

1 South Africa became a member of the International Maritime Organization (IMO) in 1995 by virtue of its accession to the Convention on the International Maritime Organization, 1948. The IMO is a specialized agency of the United Nations, consisting of an Assembly, a Council and five main Committees: the Maritime Safety Committee; the Marine Environment Protection Committee; the Legal Committee; the Technical Co-operation Committee; and a Facilitation Committee. Unlike the other four Committees, which are institutionalized by virtue of Article 11 of the IMO Convention, the Facilitation Committee continues to function as a subsidiary body of the Council, having done so since its inception in May 1972.

2 The Facilitation Committee was established to deal with IMO's work relating to the elimination of unnecessary formalities and procedures in international maritime transport. The work of the Committee concentrates on ensuring the proper functioning of the Convention on Facilitation of International Maritime Traffic, 1965, the objectives of which are to prevent unnecessary delays in maritime traffic; to aid co-operation between governments; and to secure the highest practicable degree of uniformity in formalities and other procedures.

3 In November 1991, the Assembly adopted, by resolution A.724(17), amendments to the Convention providing for the institutionalization of the Facilitation Committee. The amendments are open to acceptance, in accordance with Article 68 of the Convention, by all IMO Member States. In accordance with Article 66 of the Convention, at least two-thirds of IMO Member States must accept the amendments before they can enter into force. There are currently forty-six Contracting States to the amendments, representing about 68,62% of the world fleet. This, however, is still less than half the number of acceptances required by Article 66.

4 IMO has sought to encourage Member States, especially those with seats on the Council, to accept the 1991 and 1993 amendments to the Convention. Of the thirty-one Council members, South Africa is one of eight States that has yet to accept the 1991 amendments: it accepted the 1993 amendments, which increased the number of seats on the Council, in 1999. The 1991 amendments, like the 1993 amendments, are of a formal nature, requiring neither legislative implementation nor any financial commitment on the part of an accepting State. Having regard, inter alia, to South Africa's position on the Council, and the leadership role that it is expected to fulfill by virtue of that position, it is the considered opinion of SAMSA that the proposed acceptance of the 1991 amendments is in the national interest and deserving of favourable consideration.

Resolution A.724(17)*Adopted on 7 November 1991(Agenda item 15)AMENDMENTS TO THE CONVENTION ON THE INTERNATIONAL MARITIME ORGANIZATION
(institutionalization of the Facilitation Committee)

THE ASSEMBLY,

RECALLING resolution A.640(16) adopted at its sixteenth regular session by which it decided to take the necessary steps at its seventeenth regular session to adopt amendments to the IMO Convention in order to institutionalize the Facilitation Committee in the IMO Convention,

HAVING CONSIDERED the recommendations of the Facilitation Committee on the proposed amendments to the IMO Convention and the views of the Council on these recommendations,

1. ADOPTS amendments to the Convention on the International Maritime Organization, the texts of which are contained in the annex to this resolution, consisting of:
 - the amendments to Articles 11, 15, 21, 25, 56 and 57;
 - the addition of a new part XI consisting of new Articles 47 to 51;
 - consequential renumbering of existing parts XI to XX;
 - consequential renumbering of existing Articles 47 to 77;
 - consequential changes in the references to the renumbered Articles in Articles 5, 6, 7, 8, 66, 67, 68, 70, 72, 73 and 74;
 - consequential changes to the references to the renumbered parts in Articles 15 and 25(a); and
 - consequential change to the number of the renumbered Article referred to in appendix II;
2. REQUESTS the Secretary-General of the Organization to deposit the adopted amendments with the Secretary-General of the United Nations in accordance with Article 72 (previously Article 67) of the IMO Convention and to receive instruments of acceptance and declarations as provided for in Article 73 (previously Article 68); and
3. INVITES Member Governments to accept these amendments at the earliest possible date after receiving copies thereof by communicating the appropriate instrument of acceptance to the Secretary-General in accordance with Article 73 (previously Article 68) of the Convention.
