STANDARDS ACT, 1993
STANDARDS MATTERS

In terms of the Standards Act, 1993 (Act No. 29 of 1993), the Council of the South African Bureau of Standards has acted in regard to standards in the manner set out in the Schedules to this notice.

All South African standards that were previously published by the South African Bureau of Standards with the prefix "SABS" have been redesignated as South African national standards and are now published by Standards South Africa (a division of SABS) with the prefix "SANS".

A list of all existing South African national standards was published by Government Notice No. 1373 of 8 November 2002.

In the list of SANS standards below, the equivalent SABS numbers, where applicable, are given below the new SANS numbers for the sake of convenience. Standards that were published with the "SABS" prefix are listed as such.

SCHEDULE 1: ISSUE OF NEW STANDARDS

The standards mentioned have been issued in terms of section 16(3) of the Act.

Standard No. and year	Title, scope and purport
SANS 406:2006	Coal and coke - Analysis and testing - Determination of trace elements - Guide to the determination of trace elements. Compares methods used for the determination of trace elements in coal and coal ash. The trace elements include: arsenic, beryllium, boron, cadmium, chlorine, chromium, cobalt, copper, fluorine, lead, manganese, mercury, nickel, selenium and zinc. Also included are vanadium and molybdenum.
SANS 409:2006	Coal and coke - Analysis and testing - Determination of trace elements - Coal, coke and fly-ash - Determination of eleven trace elements - Flame atomic absorption spectrometric method. Sets out a method for the preparation of the ash and a flame atomic absorption spectrometric method for the determination of barium, beryllium, chromium, copper, lead, lithium, manganese, nickel, strontium, vanadium and zinc in ash prepared in the laboratory from higher rank coal, coke and fly-ash. The standard also provides an optional flame atomic emission spectrometric method for the determination of barium, as it gives improved sensitivity over flame atomic absorption spectrometry and it is not possible to determine barium by the latter technique with some instruments.
SANS 428:2006	Fire performance classification of thermal insulated building envelope systems. Covers the fire safety evaluation requirements for thermal insulated building envelopes, such as under-roof and side-cladding insulating materials, liners, insulated wall and roof panels, insulated ceilings and insulated wall and ceiling coating systems.
SANS 8144-1:2006/ ISO 8144-1:1995	Thermal insulation - Mineral wool mats for ventilated roof spaces - Part 1: Specification for applications with restricted ventilation. Specifies the properties and acceptable tolerances for bonded man-made mineral wool thermal insulating mats (batts and rolls). The mats specified are for use within ventilated roof spaces of buildings where the essential ventilation of the roof space may be restricted if the thickness recovery of the insulation is excessive. They may be supplied flat, folded or in the form of a roll. The properties to be declared by the manufacturer at the time of delivery are specified, as are some test methods for the determination of these properties. Essentially, mats do not change their properties and are dimensionally stable for the temperature and humidity conditions within a ventilated roof. Mats may be supplied with a factory-applied facing, but facings are not covered by this standard.
SANS 10014:2006/ ISO 10014:2006	Quality management - Guidelines for realizing financial and economic benefits. Provides guidelines for realizing financial and economic benefits from the application of the ISO 9000 quality management principles (published in South Africa as an identical adoption under the designation SANS 9000). It is directed to top management of an organization and complements ISO 9004 for performance improvements (published in South Africa as an identical adoption under the designation SANS 9004). It provides examples of achievable benefits and identifies management methods and tools that are available to assist with the achievement of those benefits. It consists of guidelines and recommendations, and is not intended for certification, regulatory or contractual use.
SANS 10177-8:2006	Fire testing of materials, components and elements used in buildings - Part 8: Surface burning characteristics of building materials. Describes a method for assessing the response of building materials to heat under controlled conditions.
SANS 10177-9:2006	Fire testing of materials, components and elements used in buildings - Part 9: Small-scale burning characteristics of building materials: ignition, flame spread and heat contribution. Covers the method of test used to determine the basic fire properties of insulation materials, components and elements used for roofs, ceilings and as side cladding (the ease of ignition, the extent of flame spread and heat contribution by the respective material) when exposed to a small ignition source under controlled conditions. It is also used to evaluate materials for their intended applications.
SANS 10177-10:2006	Fire testing of materials, components and elements used in buildings - Part 10: Surface burning characteristics of building materials using the inverted channel tunnel test. Covers the method of test used to determine the fire propagation properties of under-roof materials and side-cladding materials using the inverted channel tunnel test. It is also used to evaluate materials for their intended applications.
SANS 10177-11:2006	Fire testing of materials, components and elements used in buildings - Part 11: Large-scale fire performance evaluation of building envelope thermal insulation systems (with or without sprinklers). Covers the performance evaluation of the surface fire propagation properties of a simulated installation of thermal insulated building envelopes (under-roof and side-cladding insulation materials) as would be the case in practice under real fire exposure and under controlled conditions.

Also covers life cycle assessment (LCA) studies and life cycle inventory (LCI) studies. It is not intended for contractual or regulatory purposes or registration and certification.
SANS 14063:2006/ ISO 14063:2006	Environmental management – Environmental communication – Guidelines and examples. Gives guidance to an organization on general principles, policy, strategy and activities relating to both internal and external environmental communication. It utilizes proven and well established approaches for communication, adapted to the specific conditions that exist in environmental communication. It is applicable to all organizations regardless of their size, type, location, structure, activities, products and services, and whether or not they have an environmental management system in place. Is not intended for certification or registration purposes or for the establishment of any other environmental management system conformity requirements. It can be used in combination with any of the ISO 14000 series (published in South Africa as identical adoptions under the designation SANS 14000 series) of standards, or on its own.

PUBLIC INQUIRY INTO THE RIGHT TO HAVE ACCESS TO HEALTH CARE SERVICES1. Introduction and Rationale

Health is a fundamental human right indispensable for the exercise of other human rights. Every human being is entitled to the enjoyment of the highest standard of health conducive to living a life in dignity.¹

The right to health care is an important and critical right, without which other fundamental rights cannot be exercised. As part of the work of its ongoing mandate, the South African Human Rights Commission (SAHRC) has a duty, inter alia, to monitor the exercise and enjoyment of this right. Although large budgets are allocated by government towards health care and the provision of health services, and although there has been anecdotal information about the development of new clinics, a cursory diagnosis of the health care system by the SAHRC indicates that access to health care services in the public health care system and the quality of care provided are of great concern, in spite of existing policy and legislation governing this sector.

Apart from high profile court judgements, investigations and annual surveys that pronounce on the ills of the sector, the SAHRC has received many complaints with regard to poor service delivery in the health care system in all the provinces. These information sources point to the lamentable state of many hospitals in the country, the shortage of trained health care workers, lack of drugs in clinics, long waiting periods for treatment, poor infrastructure, disregard for patients' rights, the shortage of ambulance services and poor hospital management. These trends have been confirmed by the SAHRC in its visits to various health care facilities in several provinces such as Mpumalanga, the Eastern Cape, the Western Cape, the Northern Cape, North West Province and the Northern Province where it found that conditions in many clinics and hospitals visited were unacceptable. All these factors pointing to poor service delivery have compelled the SAHRC to hold public inquiries on the right to access health care services.²

2. Legislative Framework

2.1 Constitutional Provisions

The right to health care services is provided for in three sections of the South African Constitution. These provide for access to health care services including reproductive health, basic health care for children, emergency services and medical services for detained persons and prisoners³. Universal access is provided for in section 27 (1) (a) which states that "Everyone has the right to have access to health care services, including reproductive health care..." Section 27 (1) (b) provides for the State to "take reasonable legislative and other measures, within its available resources to achieve the progressive realisation of the right." According to the Limburg Principles, progressive realisation does not imply that the state can defer indefinitely, efforts for the full realisation of the right. On the contrary, state parties are to "move as expeditiously as possible towards the full realisation of the right" and are required to take immediate steps to provide minimum core entitlements.⁴

² See the SAHRC's mandate, sections 181 and 184 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996.

³ Sections 27 (1) (a), (b) &(c); Section 28 (1) (c) and Section 35 (2) (c) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996.

⁴ Limburg Principles on the Implementation of the International Covenant of Economic, Social and Cultural Rights Para 21 pp 63-78 in Economic, Social and Cultural Rights: A Compilation of Essential Documents International Commission of Jurists, 1977.

Section 27 (3) states that no one can be denied emergency medical treatment. Section 28 (1) (c) provides for "basic health care services" for children, while section 35 (2) (e) provides for "adequate medical treatment" for detainees and prisoners at the State's expense.

2.2 International and Regional Human Rights Provisions

A number of international and regional instruments protect the right to health. To mention a few, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) (article 25)⁵, the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural rights (ICESCR) (article 12)⁶, the African Charter on Human and People's Rights (ACHPR) (article 16)⁷, and the Convention on the Rights of the Child (article 24).⁸

⁵ Article 12 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948), states that:

(1) Everyone has the right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of himself and of his family, ..."

⁶ The International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (1976) Article 12 provides that:

- "(1) The States Parties to the Covenant recognize the right of everyone to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health.
- (2) The steps to be taken by the State Parties to the present Covenant to achieve the full realization of this right shall include those necessary for:
 - (a) The provision for the reduction of the stillbirth-rate and of infant mortality and for the healthy development of the child;
 - (b) The improvement of all aspects of environmental and industrial hygiene;
 - (c) The prevention, treatment and control of epidemic, endemic, occupational and other diseases;
 - (d) The creation of conditions which would assure to all medical service and medical attention in the event of sickness."

⁷ Article 16 of the African Charter states that:

- "(1) Every individual shall have the right to enjoy the best attainable state of physical and mental health.
- (2) State parties to the present Charter shall take the necessary measures to protect the health of their people and to ensure that they receive medical attention when they are sick."

⁸ Article 24 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child states:

- (1) States parties recognize the right of the child to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health and to facilities for the treatment of illness and rehabilitation of health. State parties shall strive to ensure that no child is deprived of his or her right of access to health care services ...
- (2) States Parties shall pursue full implementation of this right and, in particular, shall take appropriate measures:
 - (a) To diminish infant and child mortality;
 - (b) To ensure the provision of necessary medical assistance and health care to all children with emphasis on the development of primary health care;

2.3 National Jurisprudence

Since 1994 there have been several court cases that have served to add to the normative content of the right to health care. These have thrown light on the concepts of "available resources" and "reasonable measures" in terms of section 27 (1) (b) of the Constitution. In the Soobramoney case⁹ the Constitutional Court opined that the scarcity of resources available to the State were constraints to the enjoyment of the right by the appellants, given the socio-historical context of South Africa. In the Grootboom case,¹⁰ the Constitutional Court defined the parameters of what constitutes "reasonable measures" but did not venture to define the minimum core content. It concluded, however, that measures that do not include meeting the needs of the most vulnerable groups in society, were unreasonable. Furthermore, it was stated that implementation plans that failed to be "reasonable" would not meet the State's obligations in terms of section 7 (2)¹¹ of the Constitution. Another important case dealt with the prevention of mother to child transmission of HIV in which the Treatment Action Campaign (TAC) requested that the anti-retroviral drug, nevirapine be made available to all HIV positive pregnant women in the public health sector, which at the time was only available at the 18 pilot sites. In this case the Constitutional Court upheld the High Court order to make nevirapine available to all HIV positive pregnant women.

(c) To combat disease and malnutrition, including within the framework of primary health care, through, inter alia, the application of readily available technology and through the provision of adequate nutritious foods and clean drinking-water, taking into consideration the dangers and risks of environmental pollution;

(d) To ensure appropriate pre-natal and post-natal health care for mothers;

(e) To ensure that all segments of society, in particular parents and children, are informed, have access to education and are supported in the use of basic knowledge of child health and nutrition, the advantages of breast-feeding, hygiene and environmental sanitation and the prevention of accidents;

(f) To develop preventive health care, guidance for parents and family planning education and services.

3. States Parties shall take all effective and appropriate measures with a view to abolishing traditional practices prejudicial to the health of children.

4. States Parties undertake to promote and encourage international co-operation with a view to achieving progressively the full realization of the right recognized in the present article. In this regard, particular account shall be taken of the needs of developing countries.

⁹ See Soobramoney v Minister of Health, Kwa-Zulu Natal, 1997 (12) BCLR 1696 (CC).

¹⁰ Government of the Republic of South Africa and Others v Grootboom and Others 2000 (11) BCLR 1169 (CC)

¹¹ Section 7 (2) of the Constitution requires the State to respect, protect, promote and fulfil all the rights in the Bill of Rights.

3. Mandate of the SAHRC

In terms of section 184 (1) of the Constitution, the Commission is mandated to:

- “(a) promote respect for human rights and a culture of human rights;
- (b) promote the protection, development and attainment of human rights; and
- (c) monitor and assess the observance of human rights in the Republic.”

The Commission has powers in terms of section 184(2) of the Constitution read with section 9 of the South African Human Rights Commission Act 54 of 1994, to:

- “(a) investigate and to report on the observance of human rights; and
- (b) take steps to secure appropriate redress where human rights have been violated;”

The Human Rights Commission Act No 54 of 1994 also provides for investigations by the Commission and section 9.6 thereof states that the procedure to be followed in conducting an investigation shall be determined by the Commission with due regard to the circumstances of each case. Section 9.7 provides that the Commission “shall from time to time by notice in the Gazette make known the particulars of the procedure which it has determined in terms of subsection (6).”

4. Terms of Reference

The inquiries will take into account the normative content of the right to health as defined in the General Comment No. 14 by the Committee of the ICESCR which recognises the right to health to include equal access for all, on the principle of non-discrimination, to health care facilities, goods and services. These have to be available in sufficient quantity; must be physically and economically accessible to everyone; must be ethically and culturally acceptable; and must be of a medically appropriate quality. These four principles are outlined in more detail below:

1. Availability: Functioning public health and health-care facilities, goods and services, as well as programmes, have to be available in sufficient quantity. They will include the underlying determinants of health, such as safe and potable drinking water and sanitation facilities, hospitals, clinics and other health-related buildings, trained medical and professional personnel receiving domestically competitive salaries, and essential drugs, as defined by WHO's Action Programme on Essential Drugs.

2. Accessibility: Health facilities, goods and services have to be accessible to everyone without discrimination, within the jurisdiction of the State party. Accessibility has four overlapping dimensions:

- i. Non-discrimination - Health facilities, goods and services must be accessible to all, especially the most vulnerable or marginalised, in law and in fact, without discrimination on any of the prohibited grounds.
- ii. Physical accessibility - Health facilities, goods and services must be within safe physical reach for all sections of the population, especially vulnerable or marginalized groups.¹² Accessibility further includes adequate access to buildings for persons with disabilities.
- iii. Economic accessibility (affordability) - Health facilities, goods and services must be affordable for all.¹³ Payment for health care services must be based on the principle of equity. Equity demands that poorer households should not be disproportionately burdened with health expenses as compared to richer households.
- iv. Information accessibility - Accessibility includes the right to seek, receive and impart information and ideas concerning health issues. However, accessibility of information should not impair the right to have personal health data treated with confidentiality.

3. Acceptability- All health facilities, goods and services must be respectful of medical ethics and culturally appropriate, sensitive to gender and life-cycle requirements, as well as being designed to respect confidentiality and improve the health status of those concerned.

¹² Such as ethnic minorities and indigenous populations, women, children, adolescents, older persons, persons with disabilities and persons with HIV/AIDS, including people living in rural areas.

¹³ Payment for health-care services, as well as services related to the underlying determinants of health, has to be based on the principle of equity, ensuring that these services, whether privately or publicly provided, are affordable for all.

4. Quality - Health facilities, goods and services must be scientifically and medically appropriate and of good quality. This requires skilled medical personnel, scientifically approved and unexpired drugs and hospital equipment, safe and potable water, and adequate sanitation.

In addition to these four principles, the inquiries will also be directed by General Comment No.3 of the CESCR, which enjoins States parties to ensure the satisfaction of minimum essential levels of all the rights enunciated in the ICESCR. For example, a State party where any significant number of individuals is deprived of essential primary health care ...is prima facie, failing to discharge its obligation under the Covenant¹⁴ and constitutes a violation of the right. In CESCR's view, the minimum cores for the right to health includes at least the following, and are non-derogable.¹⁵ The state is obliged to ensure:

- i. essential primary health care;
- ii. to ensure the right of access to health care facilities, goods and services on a non-discriminatory basis, especially for vulnerable and marginalised groups;
- iii. to ensure equitable distribution of all health facilities, goods and services;¹⁶
- iv. to provide essential drugs as defined by WHO's Programme on Essential Drugs¹⁷;
- v. to adopt and implement a national public health strategy and plan of action, on the basis of epidemiological evidence, addressing the health concerns of the whole population which shall be devised and periodically reviewed.

The Committee also confirms that obligations of comparable priority include taking measures to prevent, treat and control epidemic and endemic diseases.

SOUTH AFRICAN COUNCIL FOR THE PROPERTY VALUERS PROFESSION ("the SACPVP")

DETERMINATION

Section 13(k) of the Property Valuers Profession Act, 2000 (Act No. 47 of 2000), "the Act", authorizes the SACPVP to determine, after consultation with the voluntary associations and registered persons, conditions relating to and the nature and extent of continuing education and training ("CET"), sometimes referred to as continuing professional development – CPD). Sections 11(b) and 23(2) of the Act empower the SACPVP to prescribe the period of validity of the registration of a registered person and to determine conditions for the renewal of registration, respectively. The SACPVP has already made rules under section 37 of the Act which provides for the period of validity of registration – see Part III of the Rules for the Property Valuers Profession, 2003, as amended ("the Rules"). CET refers to lifelong learning and ongoing development of skills.

The proposed conditions must also be appraised in the light of the provisions of the Code of Conduct for Registered Persons drawn up in terms of section 28 of the Act, which provides, inter alia, that a registered person shall, in carrying on the property valuers profession, order his or her conduct so as to uphold the dignity, standing and reputation of the property valuers profession by maintaining a high standard of professionalism, honesty and integrity; discharge his or her duties to his or her employer or client in an efficient and competent manner, utilizing the knowledge, skill and experience to complete an assignment to an acceptable professional standard; and when performing a property valuation in terms of any law, acquaint himself or herself with the previous of such law relevant to property valuation and comply therewith. Moreover, a registered person may not, without first qualifying himself or herself, undertake an assignment for the execution of which his or her training have not rendered him or her competent.

The Council now wishes to determine conditions relating to CET and its proposals are contained in the "Schedule" infra. (Note, however, that the provisions of the said section 37 do not apply to this Determination.) This Determination will, upon the effective date, be known as the "SACPVP CET Policy."

The voluntary associations recognized by the SACPVP and all registered persons as well as other interested bodies and persons are hereby invited to submit written comments on or before 02 March 2007, to the Registrar: SA Council for the Property Valuers Profession, by –

SCHEDULESOUTH AFRICAN COUNCIL FOR THE PROPERTY VALUERS
PROFESSION*CONDITIONS RELATING TO CONTINUING EDUCATION AND TRAINING
("CET Policy") [Section 13 (k)]*EFFECTIVE DATE: 1 APRIL 2007*Introduction

Long-standing legislation governing all economically-active persons in South Africa, including practitioners in the Built Environment Professions, established that life-long learning is not a matter of personal choice.

As non-compliance with the requirements of the South African Qualifications Authority Act, 1995 (Act No. 58 of 1995), and Regulations, as well as the Skills Development Act, 1998 (Act No. 97 of 1998), constitutes contravention of the law, the South African Council for the Property Valuers Profession ("SACPVP") has, therefore, no option but to implement a mandatory Continuing Education and Training (CET) policy.

CET is generic to all professions in the Republic of South Africa and life-long learning systems should be structured in terms of flexible, user-friendly policies which encourage optimum compliance by registered persons.

What is CET?

CET is the systematic maintenance, improvement and broadening of knowledge and skills, and the development of personal qualities necessary for the execution of professional and technical duties throughout a registered person's working life.

Why is a CET policy necessary?

Because life-long learning is one of the national goals of the Government of the Republic of South Africa and is prescribed by legislation.

Who is required to undertake CET?

All economically active persons registered at the SACPVP as Professional Valuers and Associated Professional Valuers in terms section 20(2) of the Property Valuers Profession Act, 2000 (Act No. 47 of 2000), ("the Act"). Candidates are not required to comply.

Who is exempted from having to undertake CET and is deferment possible?

No "blanket" options are available and individual applications for deferment should be submitted to the Registrar of the SACPVP. Each application will be assessed on its own merits.

How are individual CET needs identified?

Undertaking CET is an individual responsibility. CET needs should be focussed, consistently planned, regularly reviewed and supported by employers. In the process of identifying and satisfying their life long learning needs, individuals should explore all avenues of relevant skills enhancement.

As a guide, what constitutes CET?

Professional life long learning can be undertaken in a variety of ways, dictated by individual circumstances. A personal CET plan should be outcomes-based and linked to three goals, namely:

- personal satisfaction
- career success
- professional excellence

Is it possible to generate positive attitudes and action in CET-compliance?

Broad consultation with registered persons and voluntary associations provides the ideal opportunity for the SACPVP to engage in communication, negotiation and general discussion with those who will be most affected by the terms and conditions of the proposed CET policy, with a view to creating positive, co-operative attitudes and a unified vision regarding professional life long learning.

Submission of CET records to the SACPVP

CET requires cyclical administration linked to:

- the statutory period during which the SACPVP registration is valid namely, five years
- prescribed application for renewal of registration, in terms of sections 20, read with section 23 (1) of the Act and the Rules
- submission of proof of up-to-date skills competence which should support all applications for renewal of registration, together with records of CET activities undertaken during an individual's preceding term of statutory registration

Proof of participation in CET activities

The applicant must submit up-to-date CET records and, if available, copies of certificates e.g. degrees or diplomas.

Indemnity Insurance

Underwriters of professional indemnity insurance (PI) could offer reduced premiums for SACPVP-accredited registered persons who are CET-compliant and either refuse to provide PI to persons who are not CET compliant, or require non-compliant persons to pay premiums which are "loaded" pro rata to their higher risk profile based on the assessment of obsolescence of their skills.

SACPVP-accreditation of CET providers

CET providers will be accredited in terms of their:

- adaptation of teaching / learning systems to suit the needs, style and commitment to learning of CET participants
- own in-house CET provision, since this will be a good guide to the level of belief, enthusiasm and commitment of their resources to CET
- CET networks with branch centres
- CET learning sets, mentoring systems and portfolio-building sessions with teams of CET advisers to spread the workload
- CET attendance certificates, which should conform to the requirements of the SACPVP and be issued to attendees of CET events

South African Revenue Service tax benefits for expenditure on CET events and activities

Individual applications for tax deductions must be made to the S A Revenue Service.

Minimum CET hours to be undertaken during a five-year cycle

Sole criterion for choice of CET activities is the relevance to an individual's career development planning, and where applicable, a programme of skills-enhancement activities established in consultation with the individual's employer, which takes cognisance of organisational strategic development goals.

Format of submissions

Only the pre-printed SACPVP form will be accepted, with inclusion of the current (up-to-date) SACPVP Personal Development Plan. E-mailed or faxed submissions will not be accepted. Original, signed documents are required, supported by appropriate certificates or other documents.
